

Hitachi Digital Services and Position Green join forces to drive ESG sustainability worldwide

8 November 2023

Hitachi Digital Services, the global frontrunner in cutting-edge data management solutions, is partnering with ESG management and reporting software Position Green. The collaboration aims to empower companies worldwide in driving their sustainability performance through efficient ESG data management and bespoke solutions for regulatory compliance and sustainable investment.

“I’m thrilled to see Hitachi Digital Services extend its ESG offering through our end-to-end sustainability management suite,” says Jonas Bohlin, Position Green CPO. “Hitachi Digital Services is world-renowned for their expertise in modern data infrastructure and we are proud to also be able to bring their data integration services to our customers. I’m excited for the value this tightly integrated experience will bring to our joint customers.”

“Increasing consumer demand and stringent governmental oversight has made it more important than ever to accurately and efficiently assess ESG data,” said Pablo Orvananos, Sustainability Consulting Lead for EMEA at Hitachi Digital Services. “It’s one thing to claim responsible environmental practices but organisations are now required to show it. The combination of Hitachi Sustainability Services with Position Green’s reporting software allows customers to gather critical sustainability data across the organization and effectively reduce their carbon footprint in a way that aligns with ESG directives.”
